   Note the debrief at the end of the meeting. We want to hear about what worked.
A deep dive will happen at every board meeting: tonight is finance. We want the board and staff in sync once we leave tonight.

(2) CEO: Gia Truong shared that dinner was intended as additional time for board members to get to know each other. Announced the new management team consists of her, Ben Kornell and Sally Kingston. Sally is strengthening the relationship Envision Learning Partners has with our schools.

IV. Generative and/or Strategic Thinking: Financial Health

Ben detailed the case study and board members participated.

Generative ideas from board:
- Gia: About $1M to $1.2M will help us manage cash flow over the next year.
- Jim: Over the last two years, we have brought down our operating expenses and changed the teacher-student ratio twice.
- Helen: We have taken the easier route of borrowing, and we have learned the cost of that. Need is to add students and privately raise funds. Double the development budget and have a strategic plan around that.
- Sherri: We have kicked the can down the road. The key to maintaining positive cash flow relies on filling development gap.
- Lawrie: How do raise $1.2M without adding to program? Most grants have work attached.
- Sherri: We need contingency planning if one of these near-term solutions falls off the table.
- Kristi: Debt is dragging down the organization. We are better off trying to solve the debt problem ASAP. All of our money we raise is going to debt, instead of to kids.
- Natalie: Tough decisions ahead, appreciate the transparency.
